ORIGIN OF THE SWISS WATCHMAKING TRADE. - The history of the introduction of the first watch to Chaux de Fonds is interesting enough. It was brought thither toward the end of the seventeenth century by a cattle dealer, and excited much wonder among the herdsmen and charcoal burners. But, alas, it had not the gift of perpetual motion, and one day there was great distress, for the wheels had stopped. Thereupon a young smith named Daniel Jean Richard, who was of an inquiring turn of mind, set himself to take the little machine to pieces. He succeeded perfectly, restored it to life, and thenceforward was possessed with the desire of making watches himself. After a thousand trials and difficulties success crowned his labors, and in the end he became the father and founder of what is now a most important manufacture.
